"To Catch the Cure" for Cystic Fibrosis

In 1984 Gary and Susan Ellis's newborn daughter, Nicole, was diagnosed with Cystic Fibrosis.

Then, her life expectancy was to live to her early teens. In 1988 with help from their friends including the legendary Ted Williams, they founded The Redbone Celebrity Tournament Series.

Today the life expectancy is 40 years or over. Nicole is 32 years old. She is living her life to the fullest, with daily treatment regimens and hospital "tune-ups".

Aiden, pictured below, is now 6 years old and in school. A truly BRAVE young man!

There are still babies, toddlers, children and young adults that die too young. Money buys science and science saves lives. That is why the fund-raising events are important.

We are still "FISHING FOR THE CURE" of Cystic Fibrosis.
